What to expect

The conference, part of CESCO Week Santiago, constitutes one of the most important gatherings in the mining industry. This CEO-level meeting boasts an impressive delegation of industry decision-makers and is the best opportunity to hear from copper industry leaders.

The conference is known for its excellent content that combines economic, financial, technical, political, and societal perspectives, to give a complete overview of the challenges and opportunities facing the industry.

- Understand financial and physical markets scenarios
- Hear strategies from leading mining CEOs
- Explore investments in mining clean technology
- Gain an early read of Chinese demand
- Discover the latest outlook for the copper scrap market

“The conference gives a very good overview on the market trends for the copper industry.”

Anton Venter, Regional Manager, Americas, ABB
